3 MATTERS ARISING

- 3.1 In respect of AB minute 64B.10 (13.09.22), the paper on Shape that was proposed to be brought to AB ahead of the 2024/25 student number planning exercise was unlikely to be available sooner than Term 2 of the academic year 2023/24, given the detailed development work that would need to be completed first.

Part II: Matters for Discussion

4 PROVOST’S BUSINESS (Paper 1-02)

- 4.1 AB noted the report.

5 MEMBERS’ ITEMS

- 5.1 Members were invited to raise issues of interest to the academic community. The Provost noted his intention that, where time allowed, this item would in future be included at the end of the discussion section of the meeting.
- 5.2 In connection with the issue of the closure of buildings outside working hours [AB minutes 49.6 49.7, 11.05.22], members queried (i) whether the issue of access to buildings could be decoupled from the question of the provision of services such as heating, and (ii) whether an EDI risk assessment had been carried out in respect of this proposal. A member also questioned whether significant energy savings could feasibly be made in this way. The Chair would report back to AB on these questions.
- 5.3 Members queried whether there were safeguards to ensure that staff were not pressured to sign up to the Voluntary Resignation Scheme [AB minute 64.2, 2021-22]. The Provost considered that it had been a clear theme in all communications and presentations he had seen on the matter that the arrangement was entirely voluntary. It was confirmed that the arrangement had been discussed in advance with the campus trade unions.
- 5.4 Members flagged the issue of insufficient places for bicycle parking on campus. The Provost would raise the issue with Estates.

7 SSEES AND THE FACULTY OF ARTS & HUMANITIES (Paper 1-04)

- 7.1 Academic Board was invited to advise Council on the proposed integration of the School of Slavonic and East European Studies (SSEES) into the Faculty of Arts and Humanities, under Statute 10, from the start of the 2023/24 academic year. It was noted that SSEES had long functioned under the umbrella of the joint faculty office in respect of teaching matters, but lacked a formal reporting line through a Dean up to UMC.

- 7.2 Members queried whether the Faculty of Arts and Humanities was the most natural home for SSEES, noting the strong ties between some SSEES academic activity and the Faculty of Social and Historical Sciences. It was suggested however that there were synergies of approach between the interdisciplinary nature of SSEES and the Faculty of Arts and Humanities. Members suggested that it would be useful to have further documentation and more data on the staff and student attribution to the relevant academic areas.
- 7.3 Members also queried the timing and nature of the consultation process.
- 7.4 Mindful of the close relationship between this question and the recruitment process for the next Director of SSEES, AB agreed to a suggestion that an additional meeting of the B OFW*
